Preserving and restoring neighborhood character creates safe places to live. It includes the preservation of natural and historic aspects that are unique to individual neighborhoods – and also those characteristics that are shared by all neighborhoods and are essential to the survival of all neighborhoods.

TRAFFIC CALMING

- ◆ City’s Traffic Calming Ordinance is minimal, but a more comprehensive approach is in the works

Key Contacts & Meetings

- ◆ Department of Public Works
- ◆ SWRPA – go to SWRPA.org
- ◆ For links to sites – go to CalmTraffic.org

HISTORIC PRESERVATION

- ◆ The City’s Demolition Delay Ordinance allows individuals to request a 90-day delay in structures 50 years or older

Key Contacts & Meetings

- ◆ Historical Commission & meetings
- ◆ Historical Society
- ◆ Preservation Trust

CODE ENFORCEMENT

- ◆ Existing City Codes allow zoning, health, building & fire inspectors to issue violation notices

Key Contacts & Meetings

- ◆ Customer Service Center (854-3200)
- ◆ Zoning Inspector – file complaint at P&Z Office
- ◆ Mayor’s Neighborhood Preservation Committee
- ◆ Neighborhood Improvement Coordinator (854-7810)

COMPATABLE DEVELOPMENT & OPEN SPACE

- ◆ The Master Plan (see page 7) is the blueprint for development
- ◆ Each neighborhood in Norwalk has its own unique character that needs to be preserved and/or restored

STATE STATUTES, CITY CODE & ZONING REGS

These laws can be found online. Go to ct.gov for State Statutes – and to norwalkct.org for City Codes.

LAND USE COMMISSIONS IN NORWALK

The following commissions are made up of appointed citizens who serve without pay. Commission meetings take place at least once monthly. Meetings are open to the public to observe. The public have an opportunity to speak at public hearings that are scheduled through these commissions.

◆ Planning Commission

This City Board reviews subdivisions and other land use matters. It is also responsible for the update of the Plan of Conservation and Development every ten years.

◆ Zoning Commission

This commission reviews and approves site plans. It also makes decisions on zoning amendments and zoning regulation changes, and acts as the city’s Aquifer Protection Agency.

◆ Zoning Board of Appeals

The ZBA makes decisions on requests for variances and on appeals of zoning violation orders and appeals of ‘cease and desist’ orders.

◆ Conservation/Inland Wetlands Commission

As the Conservation Commission this board also acts as the Inland Wetlands Agency. As such it is responsible for seeing that our valuable wetlands are protected.

Plan of Conservation & Development
...a.k.a. the Master Plan

The Master Plan for Norwalk has recently been updated. It is the blueprint for development and a vision for directing Norwalk’s future development.

State Statues require municipalities to adopt an updated Plan of Conservation & Development every ten years. The Planning Commission has the responsibility for this task – with input from the public.

Excerpt from the Code of the City of Norwalk

“Norwalk became a city in 1913, at which time it consolidated with South Norwalk and the East Norwalk Fire District. While only a few simple laws were necessary in 1913, the complexity of modern life has created the need for detailed laws or ordinances for the government of a city. The collection of law is an aspect of municipal history and as the orderly development of the community progresses this collection must keep pace. Modernization and orderly development apply to all phases of local affairs and most particularly to the ordinances and laws which govern.”
